

Supplementary Fig. S2: Stations used for the estimation of snow depth probabilities. In the upper left figure is given the frequency distribution for the beginning of the observation time series, in the upper right the frequency of end year and in the lower the length of time series.

