Several years ago I noticed that the name Bagous cylindrus (Paykull, 1800), originally introduced as Curculio cylindrus, was preoccupied by Curculio cylindrus Fabricius, 1781, and renamed the species Bagous angustus (Silfverberg 1977). Unfortunately this name had already been used for an American species (Tanner 1954), and the species is thus still without a valid name. Therefore I rename this species Bagous scanicus nom. nov., based on the original type locality.
