

Broad band connections for basic services

Finland is the first country where broad band connections have become every man's right. According to the decision of principle of the Council of State through the end of 2010 1Mb broad band will be the basic service, and in 2015 100 Mb must be available.