

STUDIA ORIENTALIA
EDITED BY THE FINNISH ORIENTAL SOCIETY
56

CATTLE AND CULTURE
The Structure of a Pastoral Parakuyo Society

By ARVI HURSKAINEN

HELSINKI 1984

Copyright © 1984 The Finnish Oriental Society, Helsinki

ISSN 0039-3282
ISBN 951-95076-7-1
Offset Oy 1984

Aare isotuatin lemeiting', o olalashe o lo'laji.

Two relationships never cease, that of the brother and that of the age-set.

(A Maasai proverb)

For Yonas and Paulo, my talented and tireless co-workers

C O N T E N T S

ABSTRACT	ix
PREFACE	xi
A. INTRODUCTION
1. Research problem	7
2. Demography	9
3. The structure of the Parakuyo population in the Lugoba pastoral economic area	16
4. Literature and field material	22
5. Definition of terms	29
B. THEORY AND METHOD
6. The search for hidden structures in linguistics	37
7. Roots of symbolic anthropology: functionalism	39
8. Roots of symbolic anthropology: structuralism	41
9. Towards symbolic anthropology	42
10. Structural levels of analysis	45
11. Ecology, history and causality	48
12. Communication of research data	52
13. Field methods and experience	54
14. Validity and reliability of sources	64
C. HISTORICAL ASPECTS
15. The antiquity of pastoralism in East Africa	71
16. Interaction with peoples of other ethnic origin	72
17. Adherence to pastoralism in changing conditions	74
18. Intertribal fighting and the emergence of the Parakuyo	76
19. Effects of colonization	80
20. Local migrations	81
D. ECONOMY
21. Subsistence and rationality	85
22. Livestock holdings and sales in the Lugoba area	87
23. Role of agricultural products	89
24. Conflicting interests	90
25. Use of products	92
Milk	92
Blood	94
Meat	95
26. Livestock marketing	98
E. CIRCULATION OF PROPERTY AND SOCIAL RELATIONS
27. Intrasocietal circulation	105
Marriage transactions	105
Transactions in case of divorce	110
The function of bridewealth	112
Other prestations	114
28. Intersocietal circulation	119

F. SOCIAL STRUCTURE: AGE ORGANIZATION
29. Opening the circumcision period	129
30. Forming age-sets and age-groups	131
31. Dual principle in ordering age-sets	137
32. Age vis-à-vis generation	143
33. The age-set system in change	147
G. SOCIAL STRUCTURE: KINSHIP SYSTEM
34. Moieties, clans and sub-clans	149
35. Dual aspects of clanship	153
36. Kinship classification	160
37. Summary of social structure	165
H. WORLD VIEW: IDEOLOGICAL STRUCTURE
38. Enkai - the Deity	174
39. Living - dead	177
40. Oloiboni - the prophet and healer	181
41. Olaunoni - the counterpole of warriorhood	188
42. Directions, time periods, nature and culture	192
I. WORLD VIEW: CLASSIFICATION OF NATURE
43. Classification of animals	197
Sacrificial animals	197
Edible animals	199
Non-edible animals	200
44. Classification of vegetation	202
Dualistic tendencies in the classification of flora	208
45. Classification of soils	211
J. SYMBOLIC COMMUNICATION
46. Communication by colours	218
47. Communication by numbers	229
48. Communication by the right/left dichotomy	233
K. A PASTORAL SOCIETY AND PRESSURES TOWARDS CHANGE
49. The identity of warriors in crisis	239
50. Lowered marriage age of men	240
51. Spirit possession phenomena	241
52. Livestock development	243
53. Formal education	244
54. Prospects for sedentarization	246
L. CONCLUSION
55. Dualism in socio-economic structures	252
Dualism in kinship structure	252
Dualism in age-set structure	254
Dualism in economic transactions	256
56. Dualism in ideological structures	257
57. Enenaunir - a monster between nature and culture	259
58. Meanings of symbols	262

Identity	262
Difference	265
Essence	269
59. Evaluation of the theory and method	270
APPENDIX I: List of Figures	276
APPENDIX II: List of Tables	276
APPENDIX III: List of Maps	277
APPENDIX IV: List of Pictures	278
GLOSSARY	279
SOURCES	285
LITERATURE	288
INDEX	312